After Your Service Experience is Completed, Reflect on, and Answer These Questions

–What? Report the facts and events of your experience, objectively.

–So What? Analyze your experience.

–Now What? Consider the future impact of your experience on you and the community you served.

What?

—What was your Service Project? When was it completed? Who helped you complete it?

—What issue is being addressed or population being served, by your Service Project?

So What?

—How was your experience different from what you expected?

—What impacted the way you viewed the situation/experience? (What lens were you viewing from?)

—What are some of the pressing needs/issues in the community?

—What did you learn about yourself as you worked on your Service Project?

Now What?

—What would you change if you had a chance to do this project over again?

—What seems to be the root causes of the issue addressed by your Service Project?

—What learning occurred for you in this experience?

—How can you apply what you have learned??

—What sorts of things make you feel uncomfortable when you are working in the community?
